

45.04.01 – Philology

MA Program: Technologies of Teaching Russian as a Foreign Language

Duration: 2.5 years, evening-time

Degree awarded: Master

Number of state-funded places in 2020-2021 academic year: 4

Tuition fee in 2019-2020 academic year: RUB 62,000

Objectives:

The program acquaints students with modern methods of teaching RFL to foreigners at all levels, including elementary, with the use of an intermediary language. These methods are suitable for individuals and groups, in-person and distance learning.

Subjects:

- Functional Phonetics: Theory and Practice of Teaching
- Functional Lexicology: Theory and Practice of Teaching
- Functional Grammar: Theory and Practice of Teaching
- Functional Linguistics
- Theory and Practice of Teaching Russian as a Foreign Language
- Distance RFL Teaching
- Competency-based Approach in RFL Teaching
- Test of Russian as a Foreign Language (TORFL)
- Using Internet Technologies in RFL Teaching
- Audiovisual Methods in RFL Teaching
- The Cultural Aspect of the Russian Language
- Russian Studies
- Russian Speech Etiquette
- Russian Communication Behavior
- National Peculiarities of Communication Behavior
- Foreign Languages (English, Serbian)

Career opportunities:

- Teaching RFL in secondary and higher educational establishments abroad;
- Teaching RFL in higher educational establishments in Russia;
- Teaching RFL in elective courses in Russia and abroad.

Entrance exam:

Contemporary Russian language (interview)